

Waste Paper Drive

Citizens Have Chance To Aid Boy Scouts In A Good Cause

The Scout Leaders Service Club met Friday night at the home of Horatio Cowan and plans were made for the waste paper drive which the scouts will probably start this week.

The city has been laid out in five sections. Each Troop will take one section and canvas each home in that district. A scout will call at your home if you have any waste paper or magazines, he will take your name, address and when it will be convenient to call for it. Arrangements will be made to have a car or a truck collect this paper.

If you are saving for some other troop, than the one represented by the Scout who calls, just tell him what troop you are saving for and that troop will call for it.

The districts are as follows: All south of Holmes street, Troop 209A S.S.S. Red Jacket; Holmes street to Masonic street, Troop 202; Masonic street to Middle street, Troop 203; Middle street to Gay street, Troop 204; all north of Gay street, Troop 206.

Douglas G. Mills, Sec., Scout Leaders Service Club.

[EDITORIAL]

NEXT MONDAY'S VERDICT

The average Rockland citizen with many tax burdens to bear—and new ones as far as the Federal Government is concerned—is quite apt to carefully analyze the municipal situation very closely before casting his ballot next Monday. From the standpoint of the Republican party, now in control of the city's finances, the closest scrutiny is most cheerfully welcomed.

It will show that in spite of the many demands which have been made this year on the city treasury—demands which have been met so far as humanly possible—$21,000 has been lopped off the city's bonded indebtedness, and that during Mayor Veazie's four years incumbency of the office there has been a total reduction of $57,000. The importance to the taxpayer of this substantial decrease is shown in two highly important ways.

First—The moral satisfaction which comes from improved financial standing, and the enhancement of the city's credit to the extent that it was enabled to borrow money at the almost unheard of rate of 55-100ths percent. If the city's credit had not been very high, this, of course, would not have been possible.

Second—Because of the reduction in the city debt, and ability to borrow money at such a favorable rate, the interest account has been reduced $3000—a considerable saving in these critical days when there is so much use for the municipal dollar.

It is both interesting and consoling to know that the city's State and County tax have been paid, current bills are being met, and the city is furthermore enabled to take its discounts. No departments have been neglected. Some have necessarily been overdrawn, and always will be, to the end of time, while in others there are found unexpended balances without the sacrifice of any departmental needs.

We do not believe that the taxpayers of Rockland are willing to trade horses when it has a team doing as well as that. We do not believe that it will be willing to trade an experienced official for one whose life has not brought him in touch with municipal affairs. And that is the verdict which faces the taxpayers of Rockland next Monday. Without regard to party we ask that it be given consideration.

THE WINTER MOTORIST

Pointing out that while State and City governments will probably spend $20,000,000 for snow removal and winter road conditioning the coming season, Henry P. Weaver, chief of the Maine State Police, declares that the driving public must co-operate and be prepared to cope with winter hazards. Highway crews, he says, may work all night and day, only to have their work undone by a new or continued storm. They cannot cover all roads with treated sand or keep up with repeated storms at all times. During interims of severe conditions drivers must be prepared to co-operate with practical self-help methods for traction and visibility, or leave cars at home. A committee appointed to study winter motor conditions makes two important findings.

The practice of letting air out of tires for slippery pavements is a fallacy, since the help for stopping ability is slight, less than 10 percent, and there is increased danger of side skids resulting from reduced pressure and consequent instability; subnormal pressure also breaks down sidewalls, a cause of blowouts; that tires with good treads, highly desirable and helpful on wet pavements, give no better performance on packed snow or ice than smooth tires.

"Tire chains are indispensable under extreme conditions of ice or snow. They make it possible to stop under these conditions around 40 to 50 percent shorter than stopping distances possible with bare tires. They provide added traction often essential for getting underway or climbing a grade. Chains which bite deeply into ice provide best traction. This quality is especially important for protection against side-skids when rounding curves."

POLITICAL CANARDS

The city election campaign, while not so heated as in some former years, is developing a small crop of political lies which could be easily refuted if those affected chose to enter a controversy. The voters are asked to bear in mind that this sort of thing is common to every election—always has been and always will be. Take what you hear with a grain of salt.

MORNING'S NEWS IN A NUTSHELL

Chances of a peaceful agreement between this country and Japan faded yesterday with Uncle Sam's demand that the latter withdraw from China.

Imperial British troops formed a junction in heavy strength last night in the Rezzh area and moved forward for a decisive battle for Libya.

Reliable reports received in New York last night suggested the possibility of a hitch in German-French negotiations, with Marshal Petain of France holding out against outright membership in the Axis.

Powerful German forces have achieved a new breakthrough southeast of Moscow and have turned north in the opening phases of a developing battle of encirclement, official Soviet advisers acknowledged last night.

Two Groups of Selective Service Men Leave Here Dec. 10 and 15

The local selective service board will continue to give local examinations of selective service registrants as in the past. Those who pass this preliminary examination will go to Portland for a pre-army physical examination in advance of their induction, all travel and expense to be borne by the government. This examination will be identical to those given for admission to the army, and the men passing will know that they are to be called for service in the near future, while those failing will be placed in a deferred classification.

The first group to come under this system will leave here Dec. 10 for Portland. At the present time, there are 30 assigned to this group. A second group will go Dec. 15 and will consist of 10 men. The examinations will take but one day, the group returning home that night.

Was Found Dead

Willard Stinson, 72, Victim of Heart Attack At Home On Pacific Street

Willard C. Stinson, 72, of Pacific street was found dead in his home about 4:15 yesterday afternoon by a neighbor, Edward C. Mullen, who had entered the home after the elderly man had not been seen all day about his home, as was his usual practice. Medical Examiner H. J. Weisman pronounced death due to a heart attack.

There are no near relatives surviving him, his wife having died in February of 1940.

Mr. Stinson was a painter by trade, had worked in shipyards and had retired several years ago following a serious injury.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Marie Hawthorne, National Vice President of the American Legion Auxiliary will be entertained by Winslow-Holbrook Unit at a conference next Thursday afternoon. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 at Legion hall. Department President, Hilda J. Hatch will also be present and other National and Department officers. All members wishing to attend luncheon will please notify Mrs. Mary Dinmore, 8 Grace street by Wednesday.

The Camden Outing Club is having its annual meeting Friday night at 7:30 at the first selectmen's office. All persons interested are requested to be present.

Winslow-Holbrook Unit American Legion Auxiliary met Monday night. Final arrangements were made for the National Vice President's Conference to be held Thursday, Dec. 4.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

Figuring prominently in the Farmington murder trial is Medical Examiner George L. Pratt of that town, who played baseball on one of Rockland's college teams in the early part of the century. Known under the nickname of "Danny," Dr. Pratt was one of the lustiest swatters who ever stepped up to the plate on the old Broadway ground, and he had a close rival in the late Albert Clarke of Damariscotta Mills, who also played on the Rockland team. They alternated in making home runs, and it is not surprising that this city won the county championship hands down.

It has been my pleasure to meet Dr. Pratt on numerous occasions since his Rockland ballplaying days, for we are both college football addicts, and he never misses a Bowdoin game when he can help it. I have also visited his fine home in Farmington and together we manage to keep alive the good old days of the Knox County League.

Foreign investments in the United States are said to approximate $9,700,000,000. And presumably this does not include the trifling purchases which Great Britain, China and Russia have made the past year.

The football curtain will be rung down in the East next Saturday, but some of the boys are probably saving a few shekels for investment in the great Rose Bowl game in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

—O—

The Black Cat is the target for some inquiries not easy to answer. Here is E. H. Philbrick who tells of a grain of wheat which sprung up in his garden and bore 140 grains. "Now," he wants to know, "will one bushel raise 140 bushels?" He has asked several farmers who do not know, yet he expects a mere cat to say.

A specimen of sea elephant weighing 1,300,000 pounds was caught off the Argentine coast the other day. Sounds like the kind some of the Alford's Lake fishermen almost catch.

—O—

Sorry to hear of the accident to a well known contemporary George W. Singer of Damariscotta. Suffered a broken hip, cuts and bruises Tuesday when struck by an automobile. Mr. Singer is 80, and has written for newspapers all his life.

—O—

One year ago: Fred W. Wight died at the age of 83—Joseph E. Blaisdell, principal of Rockland High School, was awarded the "silver beaver" at the annual meeting of Pine Tree Council in Portland.

Mrs. Henry E. Comins of Rockland died at the age of 56—George Hartford Talbot, 31, died in Camden.

—O—

Rockland High School is all het up over a municipal campaign of its own, the outcome of which will determine whether John Sherer will continue to occupy the mayor's chair or whether there will be a newcomer by the name of Bradford Ames. The campaign is a very spirited one, and the youthful politicians show that they are hep to time-honored methods by making lavish promises as to what they will do if elected. Of course there's always prospect of a "dark horse" making a last minute entry, but it is safe to say that most of the students are unalterably pledged to the present campaign-ers. Election today.

Arrivals at the F. J. O'Hara fish plant have been rather small the past few days due to heavy weather outside and the fact that some of the boats are tied up with mechanical trouble. Saturday, the Queen of Peace unloaded 15,000 and the Helen B., 9,000 redfish and mixed groundfish. Monday, the Helen Mae brought in 15,000. Yesterday the Helen Mae and Boston College unloaded 6,000 and 12,000 respectively.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE COURSES

Qualified Teachers Will Be In Charge Of Work Done In Knox County

Courses to be offered under the Knox County Civilian Defense program will include First Aid, Volunteer Nurses Aid, Home Nursing, Nutrition and Canteen and the Motor Corps under the American Red Cross direction and the Warden's course which is a separate unit.

All of the Red Cross courses will be taught by qualified teachers and certificates will be awarded by the Red Cross upon completion of the requirements. Upon completion of the registration cards which are now in the hands of the citizens, it will be determined what courses are wanted and then plans will be formulated for instructors, hours, classrooms, equipment, etc.

The first aid courses are of three kinds: Junior first aid, which will be offered for the benefit of minors from 18 years down. The standard first aid course, which is the regular and usual one for adults has no age limits but those desiring to take it must be physically able to do so and must be a useful First Aid certificate holder afterwards.

The course takes 20 hours and will be offered from two to four hours weekly. A medium priced textbook is required. This course is compulsory for all who desire to take the volunteer nurses, motor corps or Warden courses. Those who wish to take the Motor Corps course are also required to take the advanced first aid course which consists of an additional 10 hours. Anyone who holds a Red Cross First Aid Teachers' certificate may give this course.

For those wishing to take the Volunteer Nurses Aid course the age requirements are from 18-50 and all must be high school graduates. They must also possess other qualifications which go to make up good nurses. This course will be given at the Knox Hospital with Miss Ellen C. Daly, superintendent of nurses as the chief instructor. The first class started Nov. 25 and there are 15 already enrolled.

This course requires 150 hours of which 80 of these are in class room instruction and the remaining 70 in practical nursing in the hospital under supervision of the hospital nurses. After the first 35 hours candidates may wear a uniform. Graduates of this course are given certificates and are eligible to do volunteer nursing work for Civilian Defense in time of an emergency either in or outside of Knox County. The certificate does not make the holders eligible to do practical nursing for pay.

Classes in Home Nursing are being planned to start about the first of the year. These classes will meet twice a week for two hours at a time for seven weeks. Any adult interested may enroll. Certificates will be awarded from the Red Cross headquarters upon completion of the course. The Home Nursing course covers the subjects of personal hygiene, home hygiene, community health, care of infants and children, care of the aged, sick and common emergencies, and preventive measures. Classes will be conducted only by registered nurses who have been qualified by the Red-Cross headquarters.

Women between the ages of 18 and 50 may take the Motor Corps course if they are safe drivers, can pass a satisfactory physical examination and are teachable persons. They must have these necessary qualifications which are especially concerned as to their ability to drive cars. Training is taken in motor mechanics and repairs, safe driving, litter drill, foot drill, convey drill and elementary and advanced first aid. The operation of the Volunteer Motor Corps in Knox County at the present time is strictly in accordance with the Red Cross regulations.

For those who are interested in taking the canteen course, it is necessary that the course in nutrition be taken first. The standard nutrition course takes 20 hours for which a standard nutrition certificate is given. This is followed by 20 hours of canteen work and no one may take the canteen course who does not hold a nutrition certificate. At the completion of this course a volunteer special canteen certificate is awarded.

These courses are designed for the use of mass feeding and methods of feeding large groups publicly with improvised tools and implements. The subject covers buying, planning bills of fare, storage and handling of foods, balanced diets, food conservation and the use of substitutes when staples are not available. The nutrition course covers food values and needs, importance of diets at all income levels, foods important for the normal growth and development of children, proper food habits and practices, ways of applying knowledge of selecting and preparing everyday foods. Demonstrations and exhibits will be given. This training will be for participation in community activities in nutrition.

The canteen course which follows this nutrition course teaches the organization and operation of canteen service, preparing hot meals for school children, adequate and suitable foods for emergency feeding and the preparation and serving of food in large quantities. The members will be taught how to set up both stationary and mobile canteens and the improvisation of eating and cooking equipment. They will do practical class work in feeding large groups. Teachers must be college graduates with a B.A. or B.S. degree and must have had experience in hospital dietetics, public or private institutional work or cafeteria or school lunch work.

The Air Raid Warden's course is a separate unit from the courses offered under the Red Cross, although the first aid course is given in connection with it. It requires 20 hours of instruction and takes up a preliminary training in Chemical agents, such as gases and what to do, supplemented by lectures and instruction by Chief Van Russell of the Rockland Fire Department who attended the Chemical Warfare school at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland.

The aim of the course is to instruct the civilian population to protect themselves and their property and to be of valuable assistance in case of actual air raid attacks, also to restrict and repair damage as quickly as possible.

The members will co-operate with the Army Air Raid Warning Service. Those taking this course are taught the importance of Civilian defense, co-operation with the Federal authorities and Agencies, arranging mutual aid pacts for State-wide efficiency, co-operation with the departments of the United States Government and the training of personnel.

The air raid wardens make a survey of their area to ascertain the number of aged and sick people and children, location of fire alarm communications, water power, building construction in the area, important industries, inflammables, explosives, utilities and transportation.

Wardens stations or posts are to be arranged where there will be fire extinguishers, gas masks, helmets, report pads, shovels and sand. The wardens must also have lists of telephone numbers of every house in their area, also fire and police departments, hospitals, doctors, nurses and first aid station. They must also have a knowledge of the treatment of burns, black out methods

There will be no fights at the Park Street Arena tomorrow night due to the suspension placed on the promoters by Commissioner Rockwell Youngs last week after they had fought a suspended boxer the preceding week. There is somewhat of a mixup about the whole matter of the suspension, anyway. The suspended boxer in question is Nap James of Biddeford who signed a contract to fight here and then promised to fight in Augusta the same night. He fought here, as contracted, and the Augusta promoters immediately put him on the official spot for not showing up in their ring, having him suspended by the State Boxing Commission. The next week, he fought here again and someone hadn't made the matter of the suspension too clear to somebody else. Perhaps it was James' fault, perhaps it was the commission's fault and it might have been the local promoter's fault; at any rate, James is out and so are scraps in the local ring until the first of the year.

TALK OF THE TOWN

The Weather

The old fashioned folks in New Hampshire and Vermont (more power to them) are celebrating Thanksgiving Day today and eating their fill of the nice turkeys they raise in those States. Maine folks celebrating a week earlier have acquired normal digestion again, but they too are thankful today because of the continued good behavior of the Weather Man. Uncle Rideout, promises rising temperature today, but for tomorrow he hints darkly at snow in some sections. The moon is on the equator—half sober and half toter way. Only 28 days to Christmas. Have you shawpped?

Rockland friends are much concerned over reports coming from Charlotte, N. C. to the effect that Fred W. Glover, formerly of Rockland is quite seriously ill.

Everett L. Spear, the well known building contractor suffered a heart attack Tuesday noon, but was reported slightly better this morning.

Mrs. Lenore Savage, chairman of the Placement Bureau of the local Civilian Defense program has announced that Miss Mildred Ferrin of the local National Youth Administration project has been assigned to work on the placement cards and that a typewriter for this work has been loaned by Sidney Segal.

In loving memory of my dear sister, Lena Hamilton, who passed away Nov. 29, 1938.

I did not hear the footsteps of an angel drawing near. It took from me a loved one. One I loved so dear. The flowers I place upon your grave. May fade and decay. But you, dear Lena, who lie beneath My love will never fade away. Always remembered by your sister, Nora Brown.

Trucks And Buses

Record of Them Should Be Filed With Authorities
Below Named

Some time ago, the Highway Traffic Advisory Committee to the War Department requested that an inventory of trucks and buses be made in each State. This inventory has been conducted in most of the States through the office of the Secretary of State, or Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

We have been informed by Frederick Robie, Secretary of State, and a member of the State of Maine Highway Traffic Advisory Committee to the War Department that this inventory is approximately 79% complete and that Maine is one of the three States showing a high percentage of completed inventory.

As the inventory of the resources, both in man power and equipment, is one of the principal factors entering into any plan of Civil Defense, it is of utmost importance that all truck and bus owners who have not filed a record of their trucks or buses with the State of Maine Highway Traffic Advisory Committee to the War Department, to date, do so at once. They should communicate with any of the following members of the State of Maine Highway Traffic Advisory Committee to the War Department, who will see to it that proper forms are transmitted promptly:

Henry P. Weaver, Chairman,
Chief, Maine State Police
Stillman Woodman
State Highway Commission
Frederick Robie
Secretary of State

Knox Industries, Inc. will hold its annual meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Saturday at 10 a. m. to elect a board of directors.

An interesting feature tonight in connection with the card party sponsored by the Band Mothers' Club, to be held at the High School building, will be a short concert by the High School Band, before the card playing has started. This should give the public an opportunity to know what this group of mothers are working for. The price of the tickets is 25c plus the tax and the prizes are of the very best. If interested friends would buy a ticket whether or not they care to play, it would be much appreciated by the Band Mothers.

This office was pleased yesterday to have a call from County Commissioner Alfred C. Hocking of St. George who has so far recovered from his prolonged illness as to look his normal self and who is able to devote a portion of his time to his duties as superintendent of the Meehan quarry at Clark Island. The latter is having one of its best seasons for several years, and will continue in operation so long as heavy snows hold off. The barge Sheridan carried from the quarry this week a cargo of paving and monumental stone to New York consignees.

Twelve British Official War Films, depicting scenes in England caused by the bombing raids of German war-planes, will be shown Friday evening in the Hotel Sedgewick, Bath, under the auspices of the State of Maine Post, Society of American Military Engineers. The Post will hold a regular meeting that night, which will be dedicated as "Civilian Defense" night, at which meeting, members, their families, and guests of either sex will be welcome. Dinner will cost $1.

Posters and stickers are appearing, advertising "Old Doc," the Rockland senior class play, to be presented Dec. 11 and 12. If the rehearsals are anything to go by, it looks as if the play will be a great success. Why not make an appointment to see "Old Doc?"

Dick Reed of the Maine Development Commission leaves Friday for Palm Beach, Fla., for eight days of fishing as the guest of the Metropolitan Rod and Gun Writers' Association of New York and one of the nation's largest railroads. The occasion is the annual Southern get-together of members of the Association and it is a signal honor for Dick as he is the first "outsider" who has ever been invited. The activity will include sailfishing in the Gulf Stream, tarpon fishing on the west coast and bass fishing in the canals and inland lakes. The party will be entertained at the George Washington Hotel at Palm Beach. It will mark the start of the great Florida Winter fishing season.

The Rockland Lions Club experienced a change of venue yesterday, when, after partaking of the weekly luncheon at Hotel Thorndike, it marched double-quick to Strand Theatre, where Manager Dandeneau, one of the club's most popular members, acted as host. A special showing of pictures included a comedy and a March of Time program entitled "Sailors With Wings"—a very striking picture which caused the Lions to marvel at the work Uncle Sam is doing in the way of air defense. Sam Savitt, L. J. Dandeneau and Charles D. Jills were appointed a committee to arrange for the Christmas meeting for underprivileged children. James Pease was a guest yesterday.

The first training period of the Knox County Red Cross Volunteer Nurses Aide Corps was held Tuesday night at Knox Hospital with an attendance of 30. This was most pleasing to the committee, since the instructor, Miss Ellen C. Daly, some time ago decided that 30 was the largest number which could be handled efficiently. Transportation for a group of Camden candidates was furnished by the Red Cross Volunteer Motor Corps.

Edwin Tyler of South Thomaston has left for Miami, Fla., where he has employment for the winter.

Telephone service is organized to make calls for help easy and fast, and to give such calls preference over all other calls.

In case of accident or other danger all you have to do, if you don't have the number of the nearest police or fire station, is get the Operator and say "Emergency Police" or "Emergency Fire" and give her your telephone number and your street address. She has available the numbers of fire stations, police stations, doctors, hospitals. She calls the one nearest your home — then "stands by" ready to rush through any additional call that you may make.

We suggest that the simple procedure be explained to every member of your family — especially the importance of giving the Operator your telephone number and address — the only means she has of directing help to your home.

Capt. Gerard Vincent, owner of the dragger Priscilla V. launched from the Gray Boat Shops Monday afternoon, was host to a party of 45 at a luncheon given preceding the launching at the Thomaston Cafe. The five tables occupied at the cafe were beautifully decorated for the occasion, the prevailing color scheme being green and white. Miniature green boats with white sails and flying pennants were used as favors. The centerpieces were of yellow and white chrysanthemums, flanked by green and white candles. WHEN GARDEN CLUBS MEET

Joint Exhibit By Camden and Rockland Organizations Was Tops

Three women who were active in the preparation of the exhibit of the Camden and Rockland Garden Clubs at the Community Building Tuesday and who have been leaders in garden club work in this section since the formation of the clubs. Left to right: Mrs. Ernest A. Robbins of Camden, Mrs. Stewart Orbeton of West Rockport, president of the Maine Federation of Garden Clubs; and Mrs. J. A. Jameson of Rockland, president of the Rockland club.

A section of the Camden and Rockland Garden Club's exhibit. Shown in the picture are several centerpieces made from cones, berries and greens as well as bouquets for the winter season, an evergreen wreath, one made entirely of cones, and a garland of greens.

The Rockland and Camden Garden Clubs held their annual Winter showing on Tuesday afternoon and evening in the East room of the Community Building under the chairmanship of Mrs. Keryn ap Rice of Rockland and Miss Alice Hansen of Camden.

Mrs. J. A. Jameson, president of the Rockland Club, and Mrs. Henry J. Pettapiece of the Camden club were instrumental in arranging the joint showing of the club members' work.

Well over 300 persons visited the exhibit during the day, enjoying the beautifully arranged displays and exquisite workmanship on the individual pieces. A wide variety of wreaths was on display, ranging from the familiar evergreen wreath to ones which were beautifully decorated with colored cones and silver. One decorated with fruits was a center of interest and hung over the fireplace. One wreath was made entirely of dried spruce cones instead of the traditional greens, and attracted much attention. There were many Winter table decorations and centerpieces, all of which showed the results of considerable work and skill. Winter bouquets and garlands were among the displays, again speaking well for the artistic ability of the club members who worked to make the showing a success.

Prizes were awarded in the many departments by a board of judges composed of Mrs. Frank Mason, East Winthrop; Mrs. Thomas Greenway, Skowhegan and Mrs.

George S. Williams of Windsor. In conjunction with the exhibit in the east room, visitors were shown motion pictures by Mr. and Mrs. Harrie B. Coe, in the Tower room. Mr. Coe, former manager of the Maine Publicity Bureau, is now engaged in showing movies of Maine for that organization before clubs in the State and in the south during the Winter.

Awards were made as follows: gift baskets, Mrs. Marion E. Holloway, Camden, blue ribbon; Mrs. Joseph Dondis, Rockland, red ribbon; Miss Gladys V. Blethen, Rockland, yellow ribbon; and Miss Charlotte Buffum, Rockland, honorable mention. Garlands, Mrs. Leon F. Bryant, Camden, first; Mrs. Fred M. Kittredge, Rockland, second; and Mrs. Jonathan S. The Christmas Season Opens And The Christmas Store is Ready

The spirit of Christmas has certainly moved into SENTER CRANE'S—The decorations are all up both inside and outside—The counters are loaded with the most wanted gifts—And Santa in person is on his way to TOYLAND at SENTER CRANE'S—This year it's smart to shop early and enjoy a complete Selection—We guarantee our prices to be lower than large city stores

Hundreds of feet of wire and hundreds of lights have been strung from the front of our store, giving the effect of a "cascade of light." Ted Strong and his assistants are shown at work.

The completed job, showing the Symbolic Star, the Christmas Bells, the "cascade of light" and other decorations

It's a big job to make our third floor into Toyland. Here are Everett and Helen putting up a fancy trim.

is Open

There's big doings going on at Senter Crane's where Santa has just opened his official toy headquarters. We've completed unloading Santa's great cargo of wheel toys and dolls, building sets and books, painting sets and cutouts. They're all brand new, designed for active children, for studious children, and for children full of fun.

Don't forget to bring Mother and Dad along. They'll enjoy Toyland, too!
